Diana Miles gave background on each recipient's outstanding contributions to their departments, the larger college community and to the external community over their long exemplary careers. She shared some of the comments their peers had made in nominating them for this status.

The Faculty Emeritus designation is based on their willingness and commitment to remain engaged in College activities such as mentorship, scholarship and strategic academic planning. Everyone is looking forward to their continued association with the College in sharing their expertise to bring long term benefits to many students and colleagues in the future. The honours/benefits attached to this status were outlined in the documentation in the Board package.

4. PRESENTATION ON THE MILLENNIAL STUDENT: Blaine Jensen introduced Kyle Baillie, Manager, Office for New Students and gave background on him. Eric Glanville, Student Development Coordinator, was not able to be present. Katie Cutbill, a student, was thanked for stepping in at the last moment.

Kyle reviewed who the millennial students are; conducted a generation comparison on several bases including what the newest technology was when most Board members were 18 years old; and gave an overview of the characteristics of the millennial student leading to what the implications were for Douglas College. He emphasized that this was a generalization and does not cover the characteristics of every student.
